STRONG PRESSURE ON THE HOUSE.

Many Interests Pleading for a Protective Tariff.

HARD TO DRAW THE LINE.

Difficult Task Set Before Chairman Dingley and the Ways and Means Committee.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 24.—Much pressure has been brought to bear upon Chairman Dingley and members of the Ways and Means Committee to-day by members of the House and business men who have come to Washington to persuade them to broaden the scope of the tariff bill in their favor. The bill, as it stands, does not include other articles which have not been considered. They are invariably told that the bill is not intended as a measure of tax revision; that it is an emergency bill to secure needed revenue, and that there is neither time nor inclination to go deeply into the tariff question. There is a strong movement, however, that may possibly prove successful, to have the schedule of agricultural products raised from the contemplated rate of 25 per cent more than the Wilson bill rates, placing the schedule on the same basis as the former.

The announcement of the committee's plan by the Associated Press has caused the movement for a bill to be organized on the Hill, and it is supported by Western members to be nearly abandoned. The separation of the tariff and bond feature of the plan is still a strong point, and there is an opportunity to place themselves on record by voting against the bill and this together with the proposed advances on the part of agricultural products and live stock practically satisfies their desired plan. The full bill, as it stands, will be a formal meeting and a sufficient basis to have the President's annual message printed in more routine matter.
This afternoon, however, the Republicans have another conference on the tariff bill.

When the House met to-day the attention was small.

On motion of Mr. Dingley (Rep.) of Maine a resolution for the disbursement of the appropriations for the relief measure to the committee having jurisdiction on the subject was adopted after a short debate. It was moved by Mr. Morgan (Rep.) of Iowa to have the portion relating to the Nicaraguan Canal go to the Committee on Railways and Canals instead of the Chairman Heburn of the latter committee saying that the jurisdiction of the Committee on Railways and Canals was confined entirely within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States.

ARM'S FOR MILITIA.

Senator Hawley Thinks They Should Have Springfield Rifles.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—Rev. Mr. Millburn, the blind chaplain of the Senate, in an eloquent prayer on the Christmas season, made passing allusion to current public events by invoking peace and goodwill among all nations.

On motion of Mr. Allison (Rep.) Iowa, the Senate agreed that when adjournment betakken it be until Friday.

President, in authorizing the Secretary of War to issue Springfield rifles to State military organizations in exchange for old Springfield rifles, when they were not used, said: "In order that this shall not be construed so as to add to the war scare, I will say it is merely a question of whether the State governments will have the right to overcome the practice."

that England had a far more justifiable position than the one she had taken. The great Britain, Venezuela had never been averse to arbitration. During his own term as President, the government of the United States, France and Switzerland should act as arbitrators. The plan was to submit the case to the President of the United States, because it would have required a long and tedious discussion and inquiry, while the Presidents frequently changed.

Very recently Cleveland had submitted the matter to the Emperor of Austria, in whose justice she had the fullest confidence, but the Emperor had declined to act, because of the British attitude. Gen. Palacio concluded by declaring that neither Venezuela nor the United States expected war.

Austria Sides With England.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—A dispatch to the Herald from Vienna says:

"The Emperor is gaining ground here that President Cleveland has committed a huge blunder. The comments of the press here are to the effect that the decision after the 'Kraus' on the Vienna House, which resulted directly from the President's action, has been put in the scale on the side of Mr. Cleveland."

"We consider the sympathy, normally felt in England and the United States, to be a grave error has been committed at Washington. I fear it will be a long time before the moral it has produced will be wiped out."

Such is the opinion of a well-known Austrian diplomat.

It is to be noted that this opinion is shared by County Kalnoky and Goldshovsky, whose sympathies with England are well known.

The comments of the press here are full of jokes and cuts, in which the message is held up to ridicule.

"America for the Yankees."

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—A dispatch to the Herald from Madrid, Oct. 29, says:

"The Club of conservative journal published in Santiago, and which is the most widely read paper issued there, discusses President Cleveland's action in a long article. It says that the Monroe doctrine does not mean Americans for Americans, but America for the Yankees."

The Club also criticizes the United States for interfering in the war between Peru and Bolivia.

Chile was equally humiliatated in the settlement of the trouble growing out of the difficulty between Chileans and Peruvians.

The United States, Baltimore, is compared to these things with the treatment that the country has received from England, which it says, has always been friendly.

AN OLD WOMAN'S WEALTH.

Weeks After Her Death Her Money Is Being Found.

Mrs. Ignatz Baudendistel, aged 87, died about two weeks ago in East St. Louis and was buried in St. Henry's Cemetery. A day or two ago it was found that some $100 had been found by the youngest son of Mrs. Baudendistel, John, buried in the ground in the rear of the house.

It was recalled that the old lady had always been miserly and the story soon gained currency.

A Post-Dispatch reporter saw Mrs. Ahrens, residing at 519 Hickory street, a married daughter of Mrs. Baudendistel, who denied the story, but said that a box containing a lease to the ground on which the house of her mother stood and other papers, were found by a young boy, John, under the steps in the rear of the kitchen. She further stated that her brother, Fred, had gone downtown to look for a lawyer and on coming had been found to have known nothing of it. She also stated that her mother, when on her death-bed, had admitted some of the hidden wealth to valuable papers, but had been unable to state anything further.

Frederick Baudendistel could not be found, but the attorney who drew up Mrs. Baudendistel's will said that the story had probably been started from the finding of the box, which had been found in the house since the old lady's death. It was learned from another source that there were two boxes, one in the house and one in the basement, one on the German Street of St. Louis, and that the bank books called for something like $100,000.

This amount, it seems, the children knew nothing of and it proved an agreeable surprise.

There are nine children, all but two being of age. Some of the neighbors said they were not at all surprised to find that Mrs. Baudendistel had been a woman of means, as she had conducted the saloon on St. Clair avenue for many years and formerly drew a good many customers from the National Fards. The search for further valua-bilities will be continued.

CHICAGO AFTER IT.

Meeting to Secure the Democratic National Convention.

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—The citizens who have undertaken to bring the Democratic National Convention to Chicago met last evening at the Iroquois Club and began their work of constituting the 500 on the fund for the preliminary expenses of the convention. The subscribers to this contingent fund will be reimbursed out of the general fund.

The committee, organized by electing Walter S. Bogie, Chairman; A. T. Ewing, Secretary, and 100 other members present were: Irving Pearle, Thor Gahan, A. A. Goodrich, P. H. Linnean, A. S. Gage and B. J. Rosen, that the 500 on the fund will be used by the National Committee should require a building large enough to hold 15,000 people the Coliseum would be available, but no temple ready would be erected.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Planned Suicide, but the Woman's Life Was Saved.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The odor of gas attracted the attention of attendants in a building at Eighty-sixth street to-day to the apartments occupied by Arno Karb and wife. Entrances to the rooms having been forced open, the husband was found dead, while his wife was unconscious from asphyxiation. The latter was restored, but the husband died, being conveyed to the hospital. As the police surmised that the couple had planned suicide, the woman was arrested. Karb was 38 years old and his wife, 26.

Election Contests.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 24.—In the district election, in which the Speaker Reed to-day, the two Illinois contestants, Belknap against McGaugh and Rinckard against Dowling, will be disposed of by the first election, the result of which Daniels of New York is chairman. All the Texas contests will be decided by the third election, in which the head of Massachusetts is the head. To-day the chairman of the triple-headed committee arranged for early meetings to carry out the plan of settling the contests by February, if possible.

Property Owners Protest Against the Manchester Road Franchise.

IT IS HELD IN ABEYANCE.

Mr. Walbridge, After Hearing the Arguments, Says He Will Look Over the Ground.

May Walbridge granted an open hearing Tuesday morning to the friends and opponents of the Manchester road franchise which passed the Municipal Assembly last week. J. B. Case, president of the Manchester road; Major B. D. Lee, attorney for the road; Louis and Suburban, and Sam M. Kenney, representatives of the company while L. J. Howard and Hon. Jeff Pollard appeared as protestants.

HIS HOOISER FRIENDS.

Jokers Send Massager Cunningham a Turkey and a Bottle of Natural Gas.

William Cyrus Cunningham, assistant manager of the Planter's Hotel, was greatly excited Tuesday morning upon receiving what he gave promise of being a big Christmas gift.

Mr. Cunningham was born in New Castle, Ind., and is the pride of Franklin County.

Every Christmas he takes along "Indiana Cyrus" and they never forget him on holidays.

So the big box labeled "From Wayne County Friends" seemed consistent enough.

He smiled blandly when he saw it, rubbed his hands together and gave Clerk George Moore a hearty "Ho, ho, ho."

Mr. Moore opened his mouth in wonder and spilled a bottle of ink on his new waistcoat.

The hotel porter was then called behind the door to open the box. It was a mysterious looking affair. Robert Kergan, the boy, who thought some rival had sent an internal machine.

Finally, with a jerk, the lid flew open and a large turkey jumped up on the desk and then out into the rotunda. Sleuth Felix O'Connor, the house detective, was in pursuit of the turkey, which wriggled and leaped over the desk and into the wash room, where he landed his prisoner.

THREATEN TO SUE THE COMBINE.

Transfer Men Consulting Lawyers About Their Claims.

A CRUSHING DISCRIMINATION

The Bridge and Ferry Companies May Have to Pay Dearly for Their Unlawful Action.

Owners of 2,500 transfer and freight teams in St. Louis are up in arms over the exposure of the bridge and ferry combines' discrimination against them in favor of the St. Louis Transfer Co. and the St. Louis Drayage Co. One of the most influential members of the Vehicle Owners' Association has decided that he will bring suit to recover 14% per cent of the money he has paid to the bridge and ferry, and make his claims the basis of an action for damages.

He has the bills of the bridge and ferry company, dating back three years or more, which he has adduced him that he has good cause for action. The first is likely to precipitate a dozen others if the pool manipulators allow it to go to trial, but under the circumstances it is thought an effort will be made to compromise in every case.

The Business Men's League will take the matter up, and among its members who have been in touch with the St. Louis Transfer Co. and Mansur & Tebets, two immense concerns that haul the bulk of the freight across the bridge by water. The claims of the League will not be small.

In order to understand the situation and get at the reasons for making such discrimination in favor of the Transfer Company, the reader will find it necessary to go back to the original bridge companies.

The former was organized over fifteen years ago, when the Wiggins Ferry Co. operated its own transfer teams. It rendered over 1,000 teams and wagons and took in $100,000 a day. The St. Louis Transfer Co. had the amount of its holdings in this company was large enough to demand that it be given an opportunity to effect that in any event the Wiggins Company has given its protege a general discount. Mr. Scullin, the Transfer man, practically admitted to a Post-Dispatch man that this rebate had been paid since the organization of the Transfer Company under a contract entered into at the time.

The St. Louis Drayage Co. is an Eads bridge creation. When it began, it rented that the ferry was doing the bulk of the business through its arrangement with the Transfer Co., the bridge people decided to give a big rebate on condition that he would carry all business over the bridge. He did, and when he did, he got with the advantage of a big rebate he got a good share of the business. He now has about 800 teams and wagons.

Within the last two years there has been a switching around of the situation in East St. Louis, and it has got so that others than the bridge and transfer may now secure any of the business there. The teams are operated largely in the interest of that corporation and freight going by other transfer lines is liable to be seriously delayed.

About the same time the bridge began to render its daily presentments to the Transfer Co. The ferry then began to accept bridge tickets from Drayage Co. employees. This was about the time that the pool had an existence and the Transfer Company, under a contract entered into at the time.

INVESTIGATION EXTRAORDINARY.

Chairman Heckel of the City Hall Investigating Committee is credited with the admission that the committee has knowledge of evidence of crookedness which it has not attempted to bring out.
He is also saying that he knows the investigation has been altered from its original channel for the purpose of shielding certain persons.

President McMath meets the suggestion that he is to be made a scapegoat with intimations that certain persons are trying to shift their own wrongdoing in his shoulders and that he has startling information which he concludes to make public.

What is the meaning of this sort of talk? Who are the powerful persons that are being shielded?

As Chairman of the Investigating Committee, Mr. Heckel has the power to make the investigation effective. Why does he permit information to be suppressed and the investigation diverted?

As President of the Board of Public Improvements, Mr. McMath is in duty bound to expose rascality. Why did he not give the information he possesses when he was on the witness stand?

The Post-Dispatch has made public facts indicating crookedness, which the committee should bring to light. Are these intimations of hidden facts and these covert threats intended as clubs to bring guilty officials into subjection and to coerce the men mixed up in the City Hall scandal into suppressing information of wrong-doing?

There is good ground for the fear of the Republicans that the City Hall Investigation will disgrace the Administration.

STOP THE WAR TALK.

Now that provision has been made for full investigation of the Venezuelan boundary question by a commission, it would be dignified to stop all war talk till the commission reports. Before the commission had been decided upon and while matters were threatening and the country aroused, all sorts of speculations as to war were natural and interesting. It is time now to think of other things.

The commission will take some time to make its investigation. It will probably be months before it will feel competent to make a report the outcome of which may be so momentous. Therefore it is important and pressing work to be done, of course, in preparation for the contingency of war, but that is better done without trumpeting.

It is folly to go wool-gathering about a remote contingency and to indulge in idle threats and over-the-fence chatter about a fighting possibility. The American people have serious work to do pushing the business revival and preparing for the momentous political struggle which may more deeply concern their future welfare than the British dispute.

The patriot is ready to talk war, but he recognizes that it is an evil at best, and is silent when talk of war descends to mere talk and other duties demand his energies. It is the jingo who goes on gesticulating and putting up his fists long after the occasion requires pug-nacity.

BUSINESS IS SAFE.

The marked improvement in the stock market and the general revival of confidence in American securities prove the correctness of the Post-Dispatch's view that the alleged panic was a speculative fury. It was nothing more than a bear raid.

Industry and trade were slightly affected, if at all. While the London and New York gamblers were in a fever of excitement the business men were calmly pursuing the even tenor of their way.

The recovery of prices shows that the enormous losses were mere changes from the pocket of one speculator to the pocket of another.

The fact that business was so slightly affected by the fury is a most reassuring sign. It demonstrates the sound condition of trade. It shows that the rising of profitable returns are too good to keep prices low and money in retirement.

Color is given to the suspicion that some of the excitement was wholly artificial, to help Wall street's monetary policy and the bond scheme along by the President's quick use of it to scare Congress into gold-standard, corporation-credit legislation. This is the ugliest feature of the incident.

Business is safe and the scare has turned out fortunately in that it promises to do more for bimetallism than for the single gold standard.

TWO VALUABLE LESSONS.

Two valuable lessons may be gathered from the circumstances of the Philadelphia street-car strike which has just been brought to an end by mutual concussions.

One is that the time to resort to arbitration is before hostilities begin. In the agreement of the company and its employees which was arrived at through the good offices of outside parties, both sides yielded a part of their claims. The company recognizes the union and re-dresses some of the grievances of the men. The men abated some of their demands.

But while the strike has been on the company and the men have lost $500,000, and the business of the city has greatly suffered from the stoppage of traffic.
The people have been subjected to great hardships. The agreement could have been reached as well before as after the strike.

With all the Missouri lead that would be fired into him in an American war, Mr. Bull is justified in substituting sweet songs of peace for discordant battle cries.

If Chief Justice Fuller should do no better for the Monroe doctrine than he did for the income tax law, we shall not be much ahead internationally.

MEN OF MARK.

Mark Twain will receive almost as much compensation in London as Yvette Guillet will in this country.

An increase in the price of plumbers' brass' goods may help those excellent citizens to explain any seeming inaccuracy in their winter bills.

Perhaps the soul of Mr. Hinrichsen, who says that war is necessary, is joyed and lifted up as often as he beholds a cripple.

If Mr. Bull had watched Don Dickinson's whisks he would sooner have known which way the wind was blowing.

With all the Missouri lead that would be fired into him in an American war, Mr. Bull would be greatly demoralized.

The Monroe doctrine as a Christmas gift to Venezuela, at Mr. Bull's expense, is eminently appropriate to the season.

Though Thomas Reed was a paymaster in the navy in his country's darkest hour, his chairmanship may wreck him.

In Kentucky it seems now to depend upon Tony Carroll whether or not Miss Allendale is to sing.

The Democrats in Congress cannot do better than to oppose tinkering with the tariff this winter.

As the newspapers do not stop for Christmas, why should the Congressman "lay off?"

In passing a tariff bill the House may be the Speaker's Presidential propects.

There be Senators who hold that the cloud should have a silver lining.

Miss Columbia would not be surprised to find her stocking full of powder.

The Czar of the House is Tom Platt, not Tom Reed.

EATEN UP.

From the Brookfield (Mo.) Argus.

St. Louis ought to secure the Democratic National Convention. A city cosmopolitan in character, populous and progressive, typical of the energy, brain and best resources of the great central west, and in the heart of a Democratic sentiment that is aggressive, no more accessible, hospitable, broad-gauged than St. Louis is big enough to accommodate two national conventions.

Another lesson is that of the danger of consolidation of street-car lines without the strongest safeguards against oppressive street-car managers who favor consolidation assert that it is good for the public because it enables the companies to save expenses and to give better service for less money.

The experience of Philadelphia effectually disposes of this argument. Consolidation of the street-car lines there was a cure to both the public and the employees. Having established a monopoly free from competition, the consolidated companies imposed harsh terms on the men and raised fares. All transfers were at once cut off. The course of the monopoly was so outrageous that despite the hardships caused by the stoppage of traffic and the violence arising from the strike, public sympathy was solidly on the side of the men. The people refused to ride in cars run by new men.

When the street-car companies want to get rid of competition and reduce expenses by consolidation, it is not for the benefit of the public, but for dividends.
All the benefits the public get from monopoly must be wrung from it.

MUTUAL LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Mr. Charles De Kay, United States Consul-General at Berlin, describes in the Consular Reports for December a most interesting and useful form of mutual loan association that has been highly successful in Germany. The spread of such associations in that country has resulted in the small farmer and trader being able to do business without the aid of the usurer. American farmers and others who have suffered from the monopoly of the usurer would do well to study the effects of usury would do well to study the tariff this winter.

More Props Needed.

From the St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald.

Both Chicago and St. Louis are after the Democratic National Convention. Chicago should put a few additional props under that "I will" platform.

LET IT BE ST. LOUIS.

From the Savannah (Mo.) Democrat.

St. Louis is the most convenient place in the country for the Democratic National Convention. It is centrally located and is easy of access from any direction. Let St.
Louis be the place.

WIT AND WORD PLAY.

Willie: "Will Santa Claus bring his card to him, Papa?" Papa: "His card? Why, Statesman.

The Ball Dimples.

St. Louis is still wildly cheering over the convention. This partly arises from having a baseball ball which gives no opportunity for enthusiasm to expand.

BEST CONVENTION CITY.

From the Farmington Herald.

The Democrats should also hold their National Convention in St. Louis. It is the best located convention city in the country.

ON BEER ALONE.

From the Galveston News.

St. Louis expects to get back that $100,000 on beer alone.

SANTA CLAUS IN TROUBLE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

that through it the sun was unable to peep, Walla Walla deep.

This problem is troubling the girls and the boys.

How the fence old Santa distribute his

For sure the dear fellow will be in a plight.

With his reindeers plunging in villainous And caught but the tips of their horns on the top.

And with a mixture of slop as thick as wine Bumping his clothe to the belt 'round his belly.

No wonder will be if he finds that he must quit his old Christmas job and leave in disgust.

St. Louis is not a coast city. She would stand substantial and solid through a long, fierce war. Investors would do well to make a note of this highly important advantage of the metropolis of the great valley.

All the parties are at liberty to put in a Monroe doctrine plank, and this is well.
The fires of patriotism, not adding to the heat of the campaign, may impair a certain gaiety that will tend to soften the asperities of politics.

Vanderbilt is a dull fellow, who is too stupid to see that a man who may possibly be named for the Presidency must necessarily be outspoken on the Monroe doctrine. The people sympathize with Mr. Depew.

Several clauses are written in the Constitution that were not there when the civil war began, and the international code will have a new clause or two when the Venezuelan dispute is over.

It seems that law lawyers in New Jersey are not required to remove their heads in court. Surely, man is the downtrodden sex. He is allowed to wear his hat nowhere indoors.

Industry and trade were slightly affected, if at all. While the London and New York gamblers were in a fever of
excitement the business men were calmly
pursuing the even tenor of their way.

It is the same in the case of the newspapers. The English are teaching the beautiful and useful art of carrying a lighted candle while swimming.

STORMS ON THE PACIFIC.

The Great Ocean Is Proving False to Its Placid Name.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Dec. 24.—The worst storm experienced in many years has prevailed in this district for two days.
The telegraph wires are down, and shipping is at a standstill. Steamers arriving from the South report a severe gale from the West and steamers bound down are compelled to seek shelter and wait for the wind to subside.

The prevalence of a succession of southerly and westerly gales has not only intensified fears for the safety of the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Pacific Line, but much uneasiness is now felt here for the British steamer Danube, which left Victoria, B. C., on Dec. 12, and delayed steamship.
During that period the weather has been intensely stormy, making it difficult to get the Danube to be put in the gale, and much more so if she had the Stratheath in tow.

Since the collie Wachusett returned from sea badly damaged, making it best for the safety of other outward vessels.

M'BRIDE'S PLATFORM.
The Labor Leader Explains His Views on Socialism.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 24.—John Mc-Bride, the retiring President of the American Federation of Labor, will probably go into the newspaper business. He has received an offer of the editorship of the labor department of one of the New York papers, and has been asked to take charge of a daily paper at Massillon, O., his home.
He said to-day:

"My defeat in New York was a disastrous blow to us. The Socialists were closely drawn in the convention of the Federation, and although I never was connected with it, I appear to be a Socialist in this, I believe in municipal politics, taking the control of corporations that are now operated under charters obtained from the cities. The tendency of the times is to overthrow private ownership and to secure ownership, and if trade unionism ought to stand for anything it ought to stand for the overthrow of private ownership. The tendency of the times and municipal ownership will come, and the conduct of government and municipal corporations toward their men is doubtless to hasten this condition than anything else."

ANNOYING A BREWER.

Wagon Loads of Toys Sent by a Crazy Woman.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Ferdinand Munch, a well-known Brooklyn brewer, is the victim of a crazy woman's whim. For several days wagon loads of dolls and toys of every description have been sent to the brewery, but who gave the order Mr. Smith is unable to find out. At the store where the goods were sent, the cigar counter, a blonde woman made the purchases and ordered the goods sent to O. D. She said she was going to see Santa Claus to all the children of his customers.

TRAMPS ATTACK A TRAIN.

The Engine Brought Up Police Who Put Them to Flight.

METROPOLIS, Ill., Dec. 24.—Fifteen tramps took possession of a freight train 7:30 o'clock last evening near here and attempted to stop the engine to get a loose and ran to the city for police. The officers arrested six of the tramps and put them in jail.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 24.—Gov.
Clarke has declined to interfere in the case of George Ward, aged 19, who is to hang at Van Buren, Ark., Dec. 31, for killing Henry Conan last July.

DAYTON, Ill., Dec. 24.—An opera company was arrested on the charge that the play was indecent.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 24.—Gov.
Stone has pardoned Goodie Walker, sentenced for fifteen years for robbery from Clinton County in 1888. His health is bad and he is to leave the State forever.

THE LAST CHANCE.

For the Gentlemen to Lay in Christmas 呈 for the Loved Ones.

To-day is the last chance to buy Christmas presents and the gentlemen should avail themselves of it. For weeks the ladies have been doing the shopping, buying gifts of affection for husbands, fathers, brothers and sons. Now the gentleman should reciprocate and buy for wives, daughters, sisters, sweethearts, the things so dear to the female heart.

Thomas Mooney, who with three companions, was pardoned from the penitentiary last week, applied for a warrant late Monday afternoon against Annie Bogines, the negro who gave the testimony which convicted them. He charged her with perjury.

About three years ago Mooney, Richard and John Cantin and William Shadrack were sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for the kidnaping of James C. Kelly.

Annie Bogines testified that she saw them hold up John Dougherty in a hall at Eighth and Morgan streets and rob him of $47. The officers arrested six of the alleged hold-up men, but merely a quarrel.

Mooney showed the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney a letter from the which Annie Bogines was referred to as a "professional witness." On this evidence he wanted a writ for her release.

He was told to lay his case before the Grand-jury.

The Mineral Resources of Texas.

The rapid advancement made by Texas up to the present time has been based almost entirely upon her agricultural resources, and is due to the remarkable fertility of many of her soils and to the great variety of products derived from their cultivation.

To-day another field opens, and she spreads before the world her wealth of mineral resources, which if they do not exceed those of agricultural promise to equal them in all respects.

The attention of capitalists, both home and foreign, is being directed to these fields, and the sinking of mines, and the erection of furnaces and factories for the recovery and processing of the various metals and other materials occurring here are already in progress.

Iron, petroleum, copper, lead, gypsum, potash, clay, fire clay and kaolin, hydraulic lime and cement materials, green sand, marls, glass sands, building stones and marbles, natural gas, salt, manganese, gold and silver.

In addition are valuable deposits of asphaltum, bat guano, limestone grit, marls, lithographic stone, soapstone and other minerals.

wonderful country, address Garton, Me-sler, General Passenger and Ticket Agent

BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE.

Two Killed and Several Fatally Injured on the Drainage Canal.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 24.—A dynamite explosion occurred yesterday afternoon on about 14 of the Drainage Canal about one mile from the small town of Romeville.

James McKnight and Daniel McAllister were killed. George and John McPatrick, Barnes O'Rourke, a woman, and Michael Harrison and Hugh O'Rourke were seriously hurt.

The blast was almost ready for firing when a blow too hard or a blow too many was given, and the two men who were preparing the blast and who were working near the chimney were blown up into the air. The two men killed were torn to pieces and the others were terribly mangled.
